Introduction

Welcome to the 48th annual Christmas Revels!

Sven is a dreamer and his father’s patience is wearing thin. It is Christmas and the big house is bustling with preparations for a party that will bring together ministers and dignitaries from all the Scandinavian countries to meet the new Ambassador of Finland. The seasonal festivities do little to reduce Sven’s moodiness that seems to be tied to the loss of his favorite uncle. Change comes in the guise of three unusual Christmas presents. They usher Sven into an alternative universe populated by witches, snakes and superheroes, where he is reunited with his late uncle in a series of life-changing adventures.

Propelled by the narrative of the Kalevala, the Finnish epic poem, and illuminated by the ethereal sounds of nyckelharpa, hardingfele, kantele, accordion, gemshorn and five-string fiddle, our story takes us via fjords and rivers all the way to the icy mountains of the Northlands and back. Count on trolls, dragons and house elves to pop up. Perhaps even Hamlet. With gorgeous melodies, rich choral harmonies and filigree ornamentation, this will be a mythical, musical experience that awaits only one final ingredient—your participation.

1. OVERTURE: FANTASIA ON FINLANDIA
Cambridge Symphonic Brass Ensemble
This overture, written by Megan Henderson in 2018, is based upon Finlandia, a beautiful hymn written by famous Finnish composer Julius (Jean) Sibelius (1865-1957).

2. ÓLAFUR LILJURÓS
David Coffin, voice • The Men of the Kalevala Chorus • Abe Finch, percussion
This song has been known in Iceland for at least seven hundred years. The Vikivaki is the accompanying folk dance, making this a perfect example of a “carol,” or song-dance.

3. KULNING (HERDING CALL)
Sunniva Brynnel, voice
“I learned this melody from my mother, Swedish folk singer Rosa Brynnel, who would use this very melody and calling technique whenever I got lost in the shopping mall. She never did like mobile phones.” — Sunniva Brynnel

4. NU ÄR DET JUL IGEN (NOW IT IS CHRISTMAS AGAIN)
Andrea Larson and Loretta Kelley, fiddles • Lydia Ievins, 5-string fiddle • Corey DiMario, bass
Sunniva Brynnel, accordion • The Kalevala Chorus • The Solstånd Children
This lively Swedish folk tune from the 1850s has made its way into many Scandinavian Christmas celebrations and is featured in the 1982 Ingmar Bergman film, Fanny and Alexander.

Christmas is here and Christmas lasts until Easter!
No, that is not true, for in between is Lenten fasting.

5. THE BRAVE SHIP
The Kalevala Chorus • The Solstånd Children • Cambridge Symphonic Brass Ensemble
This tune (Tempus adest floridum) comes from the Piae Cantiones, a collection of sacred and secular Latin songs. The pieces were compiled by a Finnish clergyman and first published in 1582. The melody is now best recognized as Good King Wenceslas. The words we sing here were written by Susan Cooper for Revels in 1993.

All Sing! Verse Two
Join them as they come ashore,
Bring them joyous greeting;
Open wide the willing door
For this merry meeting;
Revel now with dance and song
Till the darkness lighten
Pray that friendship grown so strong
Will the whole world brighten.

6. YKSI, KAKSI, KOLME, NELJÄ (ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR)
Merja Soria, voice and percussion • The Men of the Kalevala Chorus
This Finnish folk song is based on the well-known 15th-century Portuguese melody La Folia. This arrangement is by Merja Soria.

One, two, three, four, let me be happy.
When the sorrow comes, please let her pass.
Horseflies are singing, four mice are jumping,
Cat plays the drum and the whole world is roaring!

7. KLING KLANG, KLOCKAN SLÅR (KLING, KLANG, THE CLOCK CHIMES)
The Solstånd Children
This Swedish shepherd’s song of Finnish origin, tells of bells ringing, an empty belly, talking trees and night falling in the mountains.

8. SPURVEN SIDDER STUM BAG KVIST (SPARROW SILENT ON THE BOUGH)
The Solstånd Children • Sunniva Brynnel, accordion
The quiet sparrow observes the fireside scene inside the home from its perch in the blowing wintry snow. Composer, poet, novelist and political activist Jeppe Aakjær wrote this lilting ode to Danish farm and family life around 1910.
9. SLÄNGPOLSKA EFTER OLA PERSSON LUNDQVIST, SKÅNE
Andrea Larson, fiddle • Lydia Ievins, 5-string fiddle • Northern Lights Dancers
The Swedish slängpolska is a dance both new and old, rooted in tradition and fed by an enormous wealth of energetic tunes in ¾ time. Described as a walking dance in figures, the original source was a peasant dance from Poland recorded as early as the 15th century. Introduced to the French royal court in the 17th century (thus polonaise + polska = Polish in French and Swedish, respectively), the dance became popular and spread throughout Europe and up to Sweden, where it mingled with existing folk melodies.

10. BACCHI KALENDAR (BACCHUS’S CALENDAR)
Ken Mattsson, voice • The Men of the Kalevala Chorus
Prolific Swedish composer Carl Michael Bellman (1740-1795) penned the text and tune of this cautionary little ditty. The year started off well for the singer as he bought some fine new clothes for himself. Sadly, the bottle got the best of him by November and he ended up inebriated, miserable and unclothed waiting for Christmas to return. Arranged by Megan Henderson.

11. I DENNE SØTE JULETID (IN THIS BLESSED YULETIDE)
Loretta Kelley, hardingfele • Sunniva Brynnel, accordion • The Women of the Kalevala Chorus
The text of this sweetest of Norwegian seasonal hymns was penned by Danish bishop Hans Adolph Brorson in 1732. It reflects his passionate reverence for the religious essence of the Christmas celebration. This traditional tune was arranged by Linn Andrea Fuglseth, a member of the Trio Mediæval.

12. THE KALEVALA
Part One: The Creation of the World
Nori Lewis, Sarah Morrisette, Matt Winberg, Christopher Kandra, Ewan Swanson, actors • The Kalevala Chorus • Mark Ward, puppeteer
Adapted by Susan Cooper from two translations of the great Finnish folkwork, this account has the universe brought into being from a primeval omelette. If the meter seems oddly familiar, it’s because Henry Wadsworth Longfellow borrowed the epic form and verse pattern of the Kalevala for his poem Hiawatha.

13. ST. THOMASKLOKKESLÅTTEN (THE BELLS OF ST. THOMAS)
Loretta Kelley, hardingfele
Legend has it that one of the church bells was lost in the waters of Vang Lake during transport. The remaining bells sounded sad and muffled in their new home, as if mourning for their lost sister.

14. DUUI DIDDLY
Merja Soria, voice
This traditional Finnish song is for those moments in life when there are simply no words to express how you feel.

15. VILLEMANN OG MAGNHILD (VILLEMANN AND MAGNHILD)
The Kalevala Chorus • Abe Finch, percussion
The tune of this 14th-century Norse ballad is based on the 12th-century troubadour song Kalenda Maya. This choral arrangement is by Megan Henderson.

Villemann went down to the river to the most beautiful of lindens.
To where he could play the harp.
The runes did not bode well.

Villemann would stand against the torrents to the most beautiful of lindens.
Masterfully he would play the harp.
The runes did not bode well.

He played it gently, he played it loudly to the most beautiful of lindens.
He played Magnhild free of the Nykken’s arm.
The runes did not bode well.

Then the troll rose up from the depths of the lake, to the most...
It rumbled in the mountains and crashed in the clouds.
The runes did not bode well.

But he struck the harp with all of his might, to the most...
And vanquished the troll’s strength and power.
The runes did not bode well.
16. KÄRA MIN MODER (MY DEAR MOTHER)
Sunniva Brynnel, voice • lydia ievins, nyckelharpa • Annemarie Pluhar, dancer

My dear mother, do not punish me
Because I’m late in the evening
The boys loved me a lot.
That’s why I was so long.
The player played for dancing
The boys danced, danced in trance.
Yes, that’s what I did and it went so well.

17. VI ÄRO MUSIKANTER (WE ARE MUSICIANS)
Andrea Larson, fiddle • lydia ievins, 5-string fiddle • Corey DiMario, double bass
Sunniva Brynnel, accordion • The Solstånd Children

This exuberant Swedish folk song is also sung to celebrate midsummer.

We are musicians from Skaraborg.
We can play the vio- vio- violin. We can play the bass and flute!
And we can dance bomfalaralla, bomfalaralla, bomfalaralla,
We can dance bomfalaralla, bomfalarallalay!
And we can dance the other way, the other way, the other way too!

18. SANKT STAFFANS VISA (ST. STEPHEN’S SONG)
David Coffin and Sunniva Brynnel, voice • Loretta Kelley and Andrea Larson, fiddles lydia ievins, 5-string fiddle • Corey DiMario, double bass • The Kalevala Chorus
The Solstånd Children • Abe Finch, percussion

St. Staffan rose from a lowly stable boy to become the patron saint of horses. This song tells of the rider going from house to house looking for food in the dark of a winter’s night. Arranged by Megan Henderson.

“... The dawn is not yet visible, but the stars, they sparkle in the sky.”

19. TELESPRINGAR DANCE
Loretta Kelley, hardingfele • Karin’s Sisters

The springar is a centuries-old Norwegian couple dance. As in swing dancing, the dancers maintain the rhythm with their feet and follow the figures of the dance; the rest is improvisation. At its best, this is a three-way interplay between the dancing partners, who craft their dance to fit the particular tune, and the solo fiddler, who uses musical variations to inspire the dancers. Here, the tune “Luse-Søren” is played on the Hardanger fiddle in the tradition of the master fiddler Olav Løndal (1904-1986) from Tuddal in Telemark, Norway. This tune was a favorite of a village eccentric and music lover nicknamed “Luse-Søren” (“lousy Søren”), who lived in the last half of the 1800s and was a regular attendee at all the local dances.

20. THE FIRST KANTELE
Merja Soria

21. THE KALEVALA
Part Two: The Hiding of the Sun
Noni Lewis, Ewan Swanson, Sarah Morissette, Matt Winberg, actors • The Kalevala Chorus
Susan Cooper’s adapted Runo 47 of the Kalevala in which Louhi, the witch of the Northland, steals the sun and the moon.

22. VÄINÄMÖINEN’S SONG (TRADITIONAL FINNISH RUNE SONG)
Merja Soria, voice and kantele
Translation by Merja Soria

I am longing, I am thinking to begin singing, start reciting.
In my mouth the words are melting,
through my lips so softly falling,
upon my tongue the words come rushing,
around my teeth they are dancing.

23. HEYR, HIMNA SMÍÐUR (HEAR, SMITH OF THE HEAVENS)
The Kalevala Chorus
One of the most powerful clan chieftains in 12th-century Iceland, Kolbeinn Tumason wrote this deeply personal prayer on his deathbed. The text was recently set by one of Iceland’s most prominent Icelandic pianists and composers, Pórkell Sigurbjörnsson (1938-2013).

Listen, smith of the heavens, what the poet asks.
May your mercy come softly unto me.
So I call on thee, for you have created me.
I am thy slave, you are my Lord.
God, I call on thee to heal me. Remember me, mild one.
We need Thee most.
Drive out, O king of suns, generous and great,
every human sorrow from the city of the heart.
24. LOST
Ewan Swanson
Poem by Patrick Swanson

25. LORD OF THE DANCE
David Coffin, voice • Pinewoods Morris Men • The Company
“Simple Gifts” is the Shaker tune that Sydney Carter used to set these modern lyrics. It has been translated into dance using a compilation of traditional English Morris steps by Carol Langstaff, Martin Graetz and Jonathan Morse.

All Sing & Dance!

Dance, then, wherever you may be;
I am the lord of the dance, said he,
And I’ll lead you all wherever you may be,
And I’ll lead you all in the dance, said he.

26. SÓFÐU UNGA ÁSTIN MÍN (SLEEP MY YOUNG LOVE)
David Coffin, gemshorn • Sunniva Brynnel, harp • The Kalevala Chorus • Abe Finch, percussion
Icelandic composer Jóhann Sigurjónsson (1880-1919) juxtaposes beauty and fear—key motifs in the mythology of Iceland—in this haunting lullaby. Arranged by Megan Henderson.

Sleep my little love,
Outside the rain is weeping.
Mommy keeps watch over your gold,
Old leg bones and a little treasure chest.
Let’s not stay awake through dark nights.
Sleep long, sleep tight,
It’s best to wake up late.
Hardship will teach you soon,
When the day turns to night,
That the people love, lose, weep and mourn.

27. ABBOTS BROMLEY HORN DANCE
Pinewoods Morris Men • David Coffin, recorder
Fool: Div Slomin
Man-Woman: Jake Nunes
Boy Archers: Theo Price Lynn, Theo Sheldon
This ancient ritual dance for good luck in hunting the stag is still danced every year in the village of Abbots Bromley in England. Its supernumerary characters—the folk fool, man-woman, hobby horse and the boy archer—tie it to the mumming traditions of Christmas.

28. YGGDRASILL (THE ASH TREE)
David Coffin, soprano and tenor gemshorns and voice • Sunniva Brynnel, harp
Abe Finch, percussion • Mark Ward, puppets
At the center of Norse mythology stands a gigantic ash tree that connects all worlds and reaches its sacred, green branches up to the heavens. The original text is from the poetic Edda, a 13th-century compilation of traditional texts. Stag by Ralph Lee.
29. TWO POLONÄS FROM SEXDREGA

The Brilliant String Band

A treasure trove of traditional 18th-century music was discovered in Sexdrega, Sweden, a small hamlet in the historical province of Västergötland in the 1920s, when a new land-owner (and music lover) came upon the collection and donated it to a cultural history museum in nearby Gothenburg. Now available for all to see (and play!) thanks to the Swedish Archive, Sexdregasamlingen is a window into the popular music of the era and features polonäs, menuet and marsch tunes.

30. TREMANNSDANS FRÅ TELEMARK

Karin’s Sisters and Andrea Larson, dancers • Loretta Kelley, hardingfele

Here a gangar (a walking dance in even rhythm) from Telemark is performed by three dancers, hence the name “Tremannsdans.” The fiddler plays the tune “Kåfjell” (The Kå Mountain) in the tradition of the fiddler Olav Flåto (1914-2000) from Hovin, Telemark.

31. SILENT NIGHT

Merja Soria, voice • The Solstånd Children • The Kalevala Chorus

All Sing!

Silent night, holy night!
All is calm, all is bright.
Round yon Virgin, Mother and Child.
Holy infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

32. DONA NOBIS PACEM

The Company

Our traditional round for peace.

33. TOMTARNAS JULNATT (CHRISTMAS NIGHT ELVES)

Loretta Kelley, fiddle • Corey DiMario, double bass • The Solstånd Children

The mischievous mythical creatures of the Nordic night are afoot on Christmas eve while the adult humans are fast asleep in their cozy beds!

34. GAMMEL REINLENDER DANCE

Andrea Larson, lydia ievins, Loretta Kelley, fiddles • Corey DiMario, bass
Sunniva Brynnel, accordion • David Coffin, pennywhistle

The reinlender is one of the most common couple dances in Norway. It originally came from Central Europe in the second half of the 19th century. In Sweden it is called schottis. This version, known as “Gammel (or “old”) Reinlender,” is popular with dance groups in the US and Norway. The band plays “Ringnesen,” a reinlender tune by the fiddler and tradition bearer Ola J. Ringneset (1811-1902) from Vågå in Gudbrandsdal, Norway.

35. KYLÄ VUOTTI UUTTA KUUTA (NEW MOON IN THE VILLAGE)

Merja Soria, voice and kantele • The Kalevala Chorus

Translation by Merja Soria

The village waited for the new moon,
the world waited for the sun to rise.
I waited for my sister-in-law.
Rise, duck, from rowing
Rise up without lifting
Get up without getting up.
Place one foot by the stairs, the other one on the threshold, step with the steps of a goose, tap with the feet of a teal.
36. MITT HJERTE ALLTID VANKER/DEN SIGNADE DAG
( MY HEART ALWAYS WANDERS/THE BLESSED DAY)
Sunniva Brynnel, accordion and voice • The Women of the Kalevala Chorus
Corey DiMario, tenor guitar
We have paired a traditional Norwegian carol about the heart always finding its way to the birthplace of Jesus during the Christmas season (text by Danish bishop Hans Adolph Brorson) with a Christmas psalm from Seglora, Sweden, that dates back to the Middle Ages.

This blessed day, which we now see
Descends to us from heaven.
May he be content with us, may he show himself,
For the joy and benefit of us all.
Yes, may the great Lord today
Save us from sin and sorrow.

37. HAN SKAL LEVE (MAY HE LIVE WELL)
David Coffin • The Kalevala Chorus
This traditional Danish toasting song celebrates long life and good cheer.

38. PAPA STOUR SWORD DANCE
Pinewoods Morris Men • Andrea Larson, fiddle
This ancient tune from the Shetland Islands is like no other. Legend has it that the tune was to be played for a sword dance when Odin invited seven Norse gods to dance. Each of the gods held the end of another’s sword while dancing in a circle—a powerful representation of peace.

39. SÅ MÖRK ÄR NATTEN (SO DARK IS THE NIGHT)
Andrea Larson, fiddle • Sunniva Brynnel, accordion • The Kalevala Chorus
The Solstånd Children
Written by early-20th-century composer Carl Bertil Agnestig, this popular carol honors St. Lucia, who comes to lighten the darkness of the long Swedish midwinter with her luminous crown of candles. The text of verse three is by Megan Henderson, as is the choral arrangement.

All Sing! Verse Three
Lucia comes to light our way with peace and gladsome tidings.
Her loving presence is a sign of all good things abiding.

40. NO KOMA GUDS ENGLAR (NOW COME THE ANGELS OF GOD)
Sunniva Brynnel, voice • Loretta Kelley, hardingfele • lydia ievins, nyckelharpa
David Coffin, tenor recorder • The Kalevala Chorus
Nineteenth-century theologian Elias Blix (1836-1902), considered the Poet of Nordland, translated the definitive Norwegian version of the Old Testament and composed this hymn, which is noted as the first from Norway ever sung in a church. Robert Lockwood wrote the choral arrangement.

41. SOLSTICE PSALM
The Kalevala Chorus • Cambridge Symphonic Brass Ensemble
Adapting Psalm 103 in the Pratum Spirituale by composer Mogens Pederson (1585-1623), Megan Henderson wrote a new text for the Revels musicians to celebrate the winter solstice.

42. MUMMERS’ PLAY
A mash-up of characters and plot from Shakespeare’s Danish drama presented in traditional mummers’ play style.

Room: Christopher Kandra
Hamlet: Ewan Swanson
Claudius: Matt Winberg
Gertrude: Noni Lewis

43. PUEB NOBIS
Michael Chase, Heather Mell, Lakshmi Nayak, Eric Schneider, Yasmin Tal, Simon Horsburgh and Melissa Robie, handbells • The Company
George Emlen pulled out all the musical stops in his arrangement of this centuries-old tune from the ancient Finnish songbook Piae Cantiones (1582). The English words were written by Susan Cooper in 1993 for Revels.

44. THE SHORTEST DAY
David Coffin
This poem, written for Revels by Susan Cooper, in 1977 has become a traditional part of Christmas Revels performances in each of the nine Revels cities around the country.

All Shout!
WELCOME YULE!
45. THE SUSSEX MUMMERS’ CAROL
The Company, Cambridge Symphonic Brass Ensemble

This traditional carol is sung as an ending to the folk play in Horsham, Sussex. In all American cities where Revels is performed annually, audiences join in at the conclusion of each performance. The brass arrangement is by Brian Holmes, with descant and third verse harmonization by Ralph Vaughan Williams.

All Sing!

God bless the master of this house with God bless your house, your children too, your hap-pi-ness be-side; Where-gold chain ’round her

In Memoriam:

A REVELS SALUTE TO NANCY HANSSEN

We recently lost our dear friend Nancy Hanssen. Nancy was one of the co-founders of our original volunteer steering committee and was the backstage volunteer manager for The Christmas Revels for years. Even after she stepped down from the role, she continued to be an active volunteer—overseeing security backstage, building props, working at our mailing parties and helping whenever we needed her. What’s more, Nancy performed in many of our Spring and Summer Revels as a morris dancer with Rose Galliard.

Nancy, we miss you.

COREY DIMARIO Musician is a prominent double-bass accompanist on the acoustic music scene who performs at major festivals and concert venues across North America, Europe and Australia. His diverse musical palette and energetic approach adds rock-solid, low-end accompaniment and driving rhythm to any musical situation. A founding member of the string-band sensation Crooked Still and the old-time, Scandinavian-style Brittany Haas/ Dan Trueman Band, Corey has performed extensively with New England fiddler and singer Lissa Schneckenburger. Recently, he has appeared in the house band for Bela Fleck’s New York Banjo Summit alongside banjoists Tony Trischka, Bill Keith, Pete Wernick, Eric Weissberg, Richie Stearns, Noam Pikelny and the renowned Bela Fleck. A freelance musician in Brattleboro, VT, Corey received his undergraduate degree in Jazz Performance from NEC. He previously studied at the Eastman School of Music.
LYDIA IEVINS Musician plays nyckelharpa and five-string fiddle for Scandinavian and English Country dancing. Her absolute favorite thing about playing in either genre is the boundless opportunity to create rich harmonic lines. An avid dancer herself, she infuses her playing with rhythmic clarity and sensitive phrasing to produce irresistible dance music. Many of her recent projects—performing, teaching, recording—are collaborations with fiddle partner Andrea Larson, with whom she shared an intensive year abroad (2012–13) studying Swedish folk music at the Eric Sahlström Institute. Together they have developed Trad Weekend, a popular intensive workshop for Scandi-interested dance musicians. lydia’s recordings include Fika (2013) and Trip to Tobo (2012 EP) with Andrea Larson and Northlands (2010) with Bruce Sagan. lydia earned a bronze Zorn medal in Sweden for her fiddling in the Uppland tradition; in 2017 the lydia&Andrea duo was awarded a bronze medal for ensemble playing at Sampselpelagen in Sundsvall. She’s excited about her brand new duo album with Helsinki-based pianist and composer Juha Kujanpää. lydia-andrea.com lydiamusic.org

ANDREA LARSON Musician fell in love with Swedish traditional music and dance on a magical bicycle tour of Scandinavia in 1994. Since then, this unique and enchanting genre has been the core of many of Andrea’s artistic projects. Ask her about her favorites; the slängpolskaprojekt (what could be better than a dance that doesn’t require knowing which foot you’re on?) and her Practice Project (it really can be fun!). In 2012, she moved to Sweden for a year with music partner lydia ievins, where they discovered many wonderful traditions and produced Trip to Tobo. Fika, recorded the following year, is an aural homage to their experiences at the Eric Sahlström Institute in Tobo, Sweden. Together, Andrea and lydia have shared their music for voice, fiddles and nyckelharpa along the Eastern Seaboard and the Midwestern US. Andrea is delighted to return to the Christmas Revels stage for her fourth production since her 2003 fiddling debut in the Scottish show for the Papa Stour sword dance. She lives in Richmond, VA with her husband, step-daughter and Welsh terrier, Jimmy.

She would like to thank her husband John for his love, patience and understanding when asked to please take the cow out of the dryer. A TIP OF THE HORN TO TWO RETIRING TRUMPETERS

KEN PULLIG, a founding member of the Cambridge Symphonic Brass Ensemble, has stepped down from his post of First Trumpet after 47 years. A wonderful player and colleague, Ken has also been a fantastic arranger for the Revels stage.

GREG HOPKINS has also been a wildly colorful trumpet player in the CSBE for decades. His brass arrangement of Right Place, Wrong Time in the 2016 Acadian/Cajun Christmas Revels will go down in history.

George Emlen, former Revels music director, lauds these two icons: “I was always amazed that these consummate jazz musicians could turn on their straight classical chops for Revels. It’s true that sometimes the ornaments sounded more like Berklee than Buxtehude, but they always strove for that clean, bright but warm, satisfying trumpet sound, such an essential ingredient in the Revels secret sauce.”

Thanks so much for your decades of fine work (and play), Ken and Greg!

FINLAND FINDS ITS NATIONAL IDENTITY IN FOLKLORE

A NOTE ON THE

Kalevala

Until the appearance of the Kalevala, Finland had a major identity problem. Dominated by Sweden for 600 years and ceded to Russia in 1808, it had a language whose use was limited to peasants and an obscure folklore tradition. Between 1828 and 1844, the doctor-folklorist Elias Lönnrot made 12 research trips through Finland and the Karelian Autonomous Soviet Republic, collecting oral folksongs and stories from villages that he could often visit only on foot or on skis. Generations of “runo-singers” had passed down a mass of mythic material, centered around three major Finnish heroes: the sage and singer Väinämöinen, the adventurer Lemminkäinen and the smith Ilmarinen. Lönnrot wove all this into a long narrative poem that he published as the Kalevala.

Generations of “runo-singers” had passed down a mass of mythic material, centered around three major Finnish heroes: the sage and singer Väinämöinen, the adventurer Lemminkäinen and the smith Ilmarinen.

The Kalevala has had a huge influence on the development of the Finns’ sense of national individuality and pride in their own language and has led to a sort of golden age of myth-inspired work by major poets, artists, sculptors, not to mention the tone-poems of the composer Jean Sibelius. It has been fully translated into 35 languages, and partially into 100. Our very free Revels adaptation of extracts from the poem is based on the 1907 translation by the Englishman William Forsell Kirby and the much more engaging 1988 translation by Eino Friberg, who was born in Finland in 1901 and educated at Perkins School for the Blind, Boston University and Harvard.

Imagine living in a place where the sun fails to peek above the horizon for three of the coldest months of the year. Such is the case for the hardy souls who live in the northernmost parts of Scandinavia. Further south in Reykjavík, there are about four hours of light each day—plenty of sun for an invigorating dip in the plentiful geothermal waters of Iceland! Here in Cambridge, we love the extra hour of sleep when we turn the clocks back in November, but comfort comes at a price and the groaning begins when darkness comes an hour earlier.

Last summer, I took a solo trip to Iceland and wondered if loneliness would set in at any point. The sun dipped below the horizon around 12:30 am, but it never really got dark outside and I remained surprisingly content with the company of birds chirping around the clock. Later in the summer, I spent time in Downeast Maine and found that the longing for company came with the fading of the light. This was a surprising revelation and got me thinking about the varied human responses to living in a darkened world.

In the Nordic countries, some surely suffer from the perennial lack of winter light. However, the extreme conditions of the Nordic seasons have also forged incredible human resourcefulness and creativity. This is evident in the centuries of music, dance, myth, poetry, epic storytelling and ritual produced by the resilient Norselander. Clearly, there is also an increased sensitivity to, and respect for, the natural world. Godesses, gods, an immense mythical tree, dragons, seers, sorcerers, shamans, elves, powerful witches, rune stones, and harp-playing men with supernatural powers are woven into the fabric of the ancient Nordic cultures. The hidden people, or huldfólk, of Iceland have even made headlines in national newspapers and radio stations! It’s been reported that inexplicable malfunctions in drilling gear have caused various construction projects to grind to a halt. It was suggested that these sites may have been inhabited by the hidden folk and that they were displeased with the intrusion. Mechanical problems mysteriously ceased when these projects were relocated. Make of this what you will!

One unique benefit of these arctic winters is the magic of the Northern Lights. Some asked if I’d seen them last summer in Iceland. Well, sadly I did not! It’s easy to forget that an ebony sky is necessary for such a magnificent phenomenon to occur. When the winter solstice arrives, the return of the light is especially cherished in the northern latitudes. In Sweden, the darkness is illuminated by a child wearing a candlelit crown to honor St. Lucia and the beginning of Yuletide. Festive fires and ceremonial Yule logs are ignited. Days of feasting celebrate the slow but sure return of the light.

Many people are imaginatively making the most of the diminished winter light in the vicinity of the pristine Arctic Circle. Giant mirrors, light boxes and even light cafes are spreading their way across the Nordic countries. Ice and snow hotels are stunning in their otherworldly light and intricate designs. Imagine snuggling into your ice bed under a pile of reindeer pelts as you see your breath crystallizing before your eyes!

The cold and dark of winter can be an especially warm time for all of us as we fill our homes with candlelight, stoke the hearth fires and gather with friends and family. We break out the snowshoes, skis and snowboards and enjoy the sparkling light that graces the snow. The stars and planets are gorgeous in the night sky, even in the city. The tempo of the rushing world slows down and we often surrender to putting on a few extra pounds. Kosor koselig, hygge, notalegt, kodikas, mysig…these are the words for “cozy” in the countries we will visit tonight. May this cozy warmth find its way from us to you and yours this season!

The First Kantele

In Finland they say that the first kantele was made from the bones of a fish, and the strings—from the hair of young maidens. And when the first kantele was played for the first time, the sound was so beautiful that all living things started to cry, and their tears rolled into the ocean, and when they touched the water of the sea, they turned into beautiful blue pearls.

~ Merja Soria

The nyckelharpa is the national instrument of Sweden and was first depicted in a carving over a church doorway from around 1350. It has 16 strings: 3 melody strings and 1 drone string that are played with a bow, and 12 sympathetic (resonance) strings, altogether encompassing a 3-octave range. My nyckelharpa has 37 wooden keys (nyckel means key”), each one playing a single note on a single string. There are about 10,000 nyckelharpa players in Sweden today and maybe around 200 in the US, according to the American Nyckelharpa Association. My nyckelharpa was made in 2007 by Harry Hedbom in Karlholmsbruk, Uppland, Sweden.

~ Lydia Ievins

The Hardanger fiddle (or hardingfele) is unique to southern and western Norway. In addition to its ordinary complement of four upper strings, the Hardanger fiddle has four or five sympathetic strings that run beneath the fingerboard to increase its sonority. The upper strings are usually tuned in intervals different from those of the violin. There are some 20 different tunings, each based on the key and the mood of the piece. The instrument itself is richly ornamented with rose painting and inlay, and the scroll is usually cut in the shape of a lion’s head. The oldest surviving instrument was the work of Olav Jaastad (c. 1650), from the Hardanger district of Norway.

Dear Friends (Kære venner),

It is with great joy and some surprise that I welcome you to this year’s celebration of the shortest day and the season that surrounds it! Born in Denmark and coming to my first Revels in Cambridge as an audience member in 2004, I never imagined a community like this one. And in these last years, I have deeply felt the affirming powers of the friendships and the village that we create here, together.

I am thrilled that you are here this year joining with this audience and with our crew and cast of tradition-bearers, professionals and volunteers. We all come bringing our contributions and, with some expert guidance, create an entity that is greater than the sum of its parts. Thank you for being a key element in this magic!

This year at Revels we have directed our attention to strengthening our existing relationships, infrastructure and commitment to our mission of engaging audiences in bringing tradition to life. We have forged new relationships and tried new things. Thank you for coming with us and supporting us as we stretch our boundaries.

Speaking of support, we are fortunate to have financial support in the form of a donor matching challenge from The Clark Charitable Trust; it doubles the impact of new donations as well as increased renewal donations to Revels up to $10,000! Please help us make the most of this generous gift and ensure the continued existence of this wonderful event and community by making a donation.

This last year has been a moving one for me at Revels. I have come back to the songs and traditions of my mother’s family and my childhood and watched my 86-year-old mother volunteer for Revels for the first time, coaching the children’s chorus as they learned the impossible Danish language. I thank you all for another wonderful year!

Mange tak...and welcome Jul!

We pay tribute to our good friend and colleague David Gay, who passed away last year. David was the inspiring, mischievous and much beloved music director of Revels North (based in White River Junction, VT) for many years. He taught and led his musicians with humor, trust, respect and love. David’s generous heart, spirit and quirky wit brought so much to this world. His close friends are quick to say that he was deeply connected to the mystical beings, cycles and realms that often elude us mere mortals. How fitting, then, that David had a bumper sticker on his car that read: “Meddle not in the affairs of dragons, for you are crispy and taste good with ketchup.”

We miss you, David.

Revels Music Makes Great Gifts!
The Gifts of Odin: A Nordic Christmas Revels is our latest holiday release and features much of the music in this year’s production. Directed by Megan Henderson, Revels Records’ 31st recording celebrates the robust holiday traditions of Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden. Sung in six different languages by incomparable soloists and choruses and accompanied by traditional instruments from the Northlands, The Gifts of Odin is our gift to you this holiday season!

Revels music is also available on iTunes, Amazon.com and other digital service providers.

John and Nancy Langstaff’s seminal holiday songbook, recently reprinted and spiral bound, thanks to our generous donors!

MERRY, MUSICAL MISCHIEF
Music from the show that started it all: the original medieval Christmas Revels, including Susan Cooper’s poem “The Shortest Day” (read by public radio star Robert J. Lurtema), and of course, “Lord of the Dance,” marvelously sung by Revels founder John Langstaff.

Great stocking stuffers for music lovers of all ages: CDs, songbooks, greeting cards and more!
